Brooklyn Racial Leader in Jail For 13 Months

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Goldwag, chief spokesman for the militant Brooklyn chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality has been sentenced to 13 months in jail.

Sentence was imposed by three judges in Manhattan Criminal Court Monday because Goldwag had persisted in disorderly civil rights demonstrations while on probation.

Goldwag lay on the floor after the sentence was announced. As attendants dragged him away, he shouted: "Ku Klux Klan."

The outburst led Judge Benjamin Gassman to impose an additional sentence of 30 days for contempt of court.

Goldwag, 26, is the son of a Jewish garment worker and brother of a rabbi. He studied sociology at Brooklyn College.

Goldwag was a major force in planning an auto stall-in for the opening of the New York World's Fair last Wednesday. The plan to tie up traffic flopped.

The one-year sentence was the stiffest so far in New York City stemming from civil rights demonstrations.

Goldwag had been placed on probation last May after receiving a one-year suspended sentence for trespassing in a demonstration against alleged housing discrimination in Manhattan. He has been arrested several times since.

Goldwag apparently was expecting the worst. He had prepared a press release prior to sentencing in which he said Judges Gassman, Vincent R. Impellitteri, former mayor of New York, and Milton Shallick "showed themselves more racist than their Mississippi brothers."

Gassman declared the court strongly favors advancement of civil rights, but told Goldwag: "People like your people wouldn't be happy if this civil rights problem were settled tomorrow. They'd find something else to fight about."

In another development, New York's police commissioner, Michael J. Murphy, said Monday there were "isolated incidents" of police brutality, but not necessarily against Negroes.

Murphy spoke after meeting 45 minutes behind closed doors with James Farmer, CORE's national director. Brutality did not reach the proportions alleged by civil rights groups, Murphy said.

Murphy said Farmer's primary interest was to discuss creation of a civilian review board to handle complaints of police brutality. Murphy said he would study the proposal carefully.

Houston Wage Deadlock May Cancel Music

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Cancellation of the Houston Symphony Orchestra's 1964-65 season was indicated today as the symphony society and a musicians' committee deadlocked over a wage contract.

A statement Monday night after an emergency meeting of the society's executive committee said:

"The Houston Symphony Society is confronted by a sad—indeed a tragic—day when at the summit of its 50 years of great achievement it faces cessation of its activities because of demands of its musicians which, although understandable, are impossible of satisfaction."

The society is seeking to raise $350,000 to balance its 1964-65 budget of $800,000.

FATAL MOSQUITO BITES

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—The notorious mosquitoes that plague thousands of residents in some Durban suburbs have been blamed for the death of 200 caged birds.

The birds were among a collection belonging to a minister of the Dutch Reformed Church. A local veterinary surgeon said he believes the mosquitoes were malaria-carrying and thus killed the birds.

History's Wrong Guesser Has Good Reason to Cry

By JOAN CROSBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — You could hardly blame Peter Best if he cried a lot. He is in the finest tradition of history's wrong guessers, such as Napoleon who sold Louisiana thinking it nothing more than a swamp, your grandfather who sold his Ford stock because he thought the automobile was a passing fancy, Roy Riegels who ran the wrong way in the Rose Bowl.

Best had a career decision to make two years ago. He was a member of a singing group in England. They were stalemated after a successful engagement in Germany and there was trouble with the management. Best decided the time had come to strike out on his own, and form his own vocal group. And so he left the Beatles, to be replaced by a lad called Ringo Starr. His old group will make about $15 million in 1964.

In New York to tell his sad story to Garry Moore on I've Got a Secret, Best revealed that he now has his own group, called The All-Stars. They rank among the top 30 in England. And that's not as bad as it sounds. "There are 1,500 groups in England," Best said, "and about 800 of them are in Liverpool. It is a noisy place."

His group is called The All-Stars because each of them had been a star of sorts with another group. And besides, there aren't that many names left to pick. "It's a battle to get one now-days," he said in his strong Liverpudlian accent. "Planes, ships and guns have just about beer, exhausted. There are The Comets, The Jets, The Slipstreams, The Whirlybirds. There is even a female group called The Lavabirds. "The latest fad is naming groups after television shows. Another popular group is called The Bonanzas. The Four Just Men are also popular."

Oregon Farmer Who Adopted Koreans, Dies

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Harvey Holt, an Oregon farmer whose adoption organization placed more than 3,000 Korean orphans in American homes, died today at his orphanage 10 miles north of Seoul. He is Frank Dumont, 42, convicted six times since 1936 and wanted in Pocatello, Idaho, on charges of burglary and the assault of a 14-year-old girl. The manager of a Tucson apartment house spotted Dumont rifling through an apartment, and alerted two tenants. Holt, 59, apparently died of a heart attack, a spokesman at the orphanage said. He is survived by his widow, who is at their home in Creswell, Ore., and 14 children, including eight orphans he and his wife had adopted.

The spokesman said Holt became ill shortly after a trip to Seoul in connection with adoption processes for orphans who will be adopted by a group of 80 Californians now visiting Korea. The orphanage, which has beds for 700 children, served as a processing station for orphans being adopted by foreign families. Many were fathered by American soldiers, and most of them went to the United States. In 1958 the Korean government decorated Holt with its medal for public welfare service.

Barefoot Cop, College Wrestler Capture Criminal

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A barefoot policeman and a former college wrestler teamed up Monday to capture one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals. He is Frank Dumont, 42, convicted six times since 1936 and wanted in Pocatello, Idaho, on charges of burglary and the assault of a 14-year-old girl. The manager of a Tucson apartment house spotted Dumont rifling through an apartment, and alerted two tenants. Holt, 59, apparently died of a heart attack, a spokesman at the orphanage said. He is survived by his widow, who is at their home in Creswell, Ore., and 14 children, including eight orphans he and his wife had adopted.

Best, whose hair is a masterpiece of sorts, rising tall and bouffant in a pompadour over his forehead, and flowing long and curly over his neck in the style popularized by ham Shakespearean actors, displays remarkable control for one who made such a wrong, and irrevocable, decision. "I would have been a rich man today if I had stuck," he said, shaking his head. "Would I do it all over again? Well, music is in my blood, so I would still be a musician. But I think I would think twice about quitting The Beatles."

Boys Sentenced To View Victim Of Hit-and-Run

BOSTON (UPI)—The closed identified because of their ages, the realization of what they had caused to happen.

When they were arraigned Monday in Dorchester Municipal Court, Judge Sadie L. Shulman ordered the 13-year-old man, a graying grandmother boy held in $10,000 bail on several charges, including leaving a woman they did not know and ordered the boys to view the scene.

Then they knelt in silent prayer for five minutes.

Mrs. Eleanor C. Mason was a woman who had been a victim of a hit-and-run car Saturday—her 48th birthday. Her body was dragged 50 feet before the car hit another automobile and crashed through a chain fence.

The driver, allegedly a 13-year-old boy, fled. Police said the five boys stole the car Friday night, drove around the city and then hid it. The 13-year-old allegedly took it out alone Saturday when the accident occurred. They were not identified because of their ages.

Besides ordering them to view Mrs. Mason's body, Judge Shulman ordered the 13-year-old boy held in $10,000 bail on several charges, including leaving a woman they did not know and ordered the boys to view the scene.

The four other juveniles, 14, 15, 15 and 15 years old, were held in $5,000 bail each on charges of theft of an automobile.

Epsilon Sigma Alphas to Celebrate Founder's Day

The Pikes Peak Area Council as "ESA International Week" will celebrate Founder's Day. Epsilon Sigma Alpha is one of the oldest off-campus sororities in existence. Mrs. Duncan, lodge at 6:30 p.m. Monday. There will be in attendance, said the state president, Betty Jean Christiansen, and state corresponding secretary, Jacklin Taylor, both of Pueblo. Mrs. Stella White, past state president, also from Pueblo, and founder of the Pikes Peak Area Council, Miss Marcy Koelzer, state chaplain and member of the Pikes Peak Area Council will also attend. The Council consists of five young women of today either chapters and approximately 75 members.

command of the sorority in 1941. Now that ESA is international in scope, she said, "we have the opportunity to help spread ESA's principles of freedom and equality throughout the world." ESA International Week recognizes all three facets of our sorority—the social, the philanthropic, and the educational. But during that week, our 1,500 chapters and more than 40,000 members place special emphasis on our philanthropic projects. Here in Colorado Springs, for example, the Pikes Peak Area Council has undertaken such worthwhile projects as assisting a sister with her retarded child, Penrose Well Baby Clinic, a local rest home, Mental health Mothers March, as well as K.O. Polio during the past year. Mrs. Duncan said, "We're proud of the contributions we make to our own community, but we are equally proud of the more than $1 million annually which ESA chapters just like this one are donating to the welfare and comfort of the needy everywhere."

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:
I own quite a few apartment houses. We use rubber base paint.

To remove wall paper that has been painted over many times, we rent steamers or spray guns.

I, personally, (as one who has to do this job for twelve terrace courts) have found that a spray gun or steamers will not remove wall paper that has been covered by rubber base paints. If used as recommended, BUT, I have found that if I will use something as a "scratcher" and scratch the old paint slightly first, so that the steam or wetted gadget gets below the paint and into the press of the paper, itself, it works wonderfully well.

Here's another thing I found: Don't use a beer can opener. This scratches the wall. The best scratcher I have found is one made from the end of a ham can or coffee can, any can will do. But a canned ham has a greater piece of metal on the end and does the job about twice as fast.

Put the can on a sort board (any kind of pine will do) and drive a nail through it as many times as possible. The bottom of the piece of tin will be loaded with "scratchers" after you have nail-holed the piece of tin with all these holes. Be SURE to put on a glove so you don't cut your hand.

Take this little home-made gadget, wet your wall paper, then scratch all the wall paper and then apply whatever "wet" method you're using.

You won't have to peel the paper off in strips! Each little scratch you made will absorb some water. It will come off beautifully! —Devoted Follower of Your Clan

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:
They say a housewife's work is like stringing beads, with no knot at the end of the string and it's all too true. But, Heloise, with your interest and helpfulness, it's not as bad as it might be. —Mrs. John Pointer

Dear Heloise:
I made my newspaper logs by opening up the complete sheet of newspaper and laying it on the floor. I then fold it in the same manner as you do a diaper, the old triangle way—and start at the folded edge and roll them up. All I do then is tie them into a knot! —Mrs. B. E. Nevilsky

Dear Folks:
Many suggestions have come in for using newspapers for fire logs. This is an entirely new thought!

I tried it. It's much easier and I find that by ripping the folded side of the newspaper with a butcher knife and then folding it and rolling... there are no wrinkles in the papers and they are easier to tie.

Did you know that these logs can be used in fireplaces, for outdoor camp fires, barbecue pits or any such place? The newspaper logs are also excellent to mix with, and among, briquettes and charcoal when trying to start a charcoal fire for your grill.

Don't waste your newspaper. Utilize everything you can. Any way you can save, helps with your budget. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I do not recommend this to all readers because I do not know what type, quality or kind of glazed chintz they have, but... I have restored the glaze to our chintz curtains by starching them in cooked boiled starch to which I "added" some paraffin.

The paraffin seemed to help the starch or the starch helps the paraffin... which? Anyhow, the curtains look perfectly beautiful.

I used old wax candles—naturally they were white—and grated them on my grater after making the hot boiled starch and letting it cool a bit.

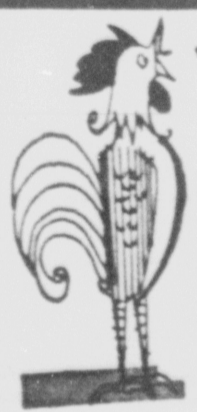

This starch must be warm enough to melt the bits of paraffin.

However, I found that if I grated the paraffin on the smallest part of the grater, the starch does not have to be so hot. —Homemaker

Traffic Toll Running Behind That of 1963

By United Press International
The 1964 Colorado traffic death toll was running 13 behind last year's count of 136 today following the deaths Monday of a Wausau, Wis., couple in a one-car accident 25 miles west of Walsenburg.

The Colorado State Patrol identified the latest victims as Gustave A. Larson, 57, and his wife Mabel, 54. A daughter, Carol Marie Larson, 27, also of Wausau, suffered bruises and shock. The patrol said the Larson car was headed east on Colorado 160 when the brakes failed on a grade. The car skidded for several feet, turned over and dropped 35 feet into the ditch. Both victims were thrown out. The young woman remained inside.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Don't Be Hasty!

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 years old and have three kids. My oldest will be three in February. My husband and I are separated and we are getting a divorce. I met this other man, Abby. He lives across the street from me, and we have been seeing each other on a grade. The car skidded for several feet, turned over and dropped 35 feet into the ditch. Both victims were thrown out. The young woman remained inside.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago a very dear friend of mine passed away. Shortly afterwards her daughter brought me a large box of her mother's clothes as we were about the same size. Abby, my friend had lots of lovely clothes and I could surely use them as we have a large family and my husband hasn't worked steady for a long time due to illness. But I keep thinking, what if I should meet the poor husband or one of the children on the street, and they saw me wearing their dear mother's clothes. Would it not give them a heart-ache? I wouldn't hurt them if I had to go around in rags. Do you think I really ought to wear these things? —A FRIEND

DEAR YOUNG: A "good" man would not ask a mother to give away one of her children. Nor would a "good" man find a three-year-old too much to "stand." Don't rush into a second marriage with this man, or any other, or you will find yourself 21 years old with TWO failures.

DEAR ABBY: I recently married a young man who has two married brothers. Their wives call their mother-in-law "Mother." I saw my mother-in-law only twice before I married her son, and she is still a comparative stranger to me, so I find it impossible to call her "Mother." I simply avoid calling her anything. My own mother is still living, and I can't bring myself to call anyone else "Mother." My mother-in-law has asked me to call her "Mother." I don't want hard feelings, but I'm not the insincere type. Should I force myself to call her "Mother"? —TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Call her "Mom." Meanwhile, here's hoping you become a mother soon.

Then you can get around your problem by calling her "Grandma." —A FRIEND

CARRIER HONORED — Postmaster Robert H. Wardwell presents a Certificate of Merit to Postal Carrier Cecil Lantzer, 1620 W. Boulder. The award was made for an employee suggestion submitted by Lantzer. He suggested an easier method for installation of tire chains on mailsters, the three wheeled vehicles used by some postal carriers, during periods of particularly bad weather. This suggestion resulted in savings in operating costs, time, and improved the safety conditions for mounted vehicle operators.

Retired Soldiers Keep Carson Hospital Jumping

The men's medical ward at Fort Carson's Hospital has been jumping for the past month, thanks to the wit and antics of two retired soldiers — who together have a total of 119 years on the Army payroll.

Capt. Earl C. Wilkes, who had been awarded the Army Commendation Medal and two clusters during his 41 years of active service, was released from the hospital last week, leaving the laughs to M. Sgt. John (Pops) Martin, a resident of Colorado Springs who began his career in the service with the 5th Infantry Division (not mechanized) 61 years ago.

Although the captain has left, said Army nurse Lt. Sharon Sollers, "I'm sure Pops will do enough clowning for both of them."

According to the pretty young nurse, the two veterans permitted very few people more than a moments rest, with Wilkes running around the ward most of the day making wise cracks, and Pops making all kinds of sound effects and funny faces. "But," Lt. Sollers admitted, "we love them both."

Wilkes, who joined the Army in 1906, originally hails from Rawlins, Wyo., and for the past nine years has lived in Canon City.

The 82-year-old officer served on General Eisenhower's General Staff in 1946 and under MacArthur in 1925. In 1942 he returned to the States from Pearl Harbor, where he had been stationed during the attack.

Before retiring in 1947, the captain wrote a manual on separation centers, and participated in the organization of such centers at Fort Knox, Ky., Fort Lawton, Wash., and Camp Atterbury, Ind., where he was director of processing.

Martin, a native of Holyoke, Mass., now making his home in Colorado Springs, joined the Army in 1903, "when the 5th Division was not mechanized," he pointed out.

Although he recently celebrated his 80th birthday, "Pops is still a flirt," said Lt. Sollers. And the old soldier confirmed this statement, admitting, "The thing I like most about this hospital is the pretty nurses all around me."

Cadet Freshmen Will Become Wing Members

The 683 members of the Air Force Academy's Class of 1967 (Freshmen) will become full fledged members of the Cadet Wing Saturday.

Official recognition ceremonies will wind up nine months as "doolies" for the Fourth Classmen and signal their full acceptance into the wing.

Although attendance at the actual ceremony will not be open to the public, a full wing parade scheduled for 11:15 a.m. on the parade ground just east of the academic area may be observed by those interested.

Just prior to start of the parade, a special memorial service for all deceased Academy graduates will be held by Academy alumni. Graduates will gather here Friday, Saturday, and Sunday for their annual reunion.

Other parades open to the public during May will be held on the 9th, 23rd, and 30th — weather permitting. All three will start at 11:15 a.m.

Man Changes Plea to Guilty in District Court

Tony Frank Gutierrez, who pleaded innocent Feb. 14 to assault with a deadly weapon charged his plea to guilty in District Court Tuesday and the district attorney's office reduced the charge to assault and battery.

Assault with a deadly weapon carries a sentence of one to five years in the state penitentiary while assault and battery is up to one year in county jail with a possible fine of $500.

Gutierrez, 29, 301 E. Las Vegas St. was accused of attacking Joe Fred Mascarenas, 23, 917 S. Royer St. with a knife during a brawl at the White Star Cafe, 114 S. Nevada Ave. Jan. 25.

Judge David W. Enoch set May 22 for pre-sentence investigation.

Four Traffic Violators Fined by JP

Wickner, 19, 333 Chatfield Dr. Security was ticketed on Pikes Peak Avenue Friday by Police Officer J. C. Cates.

Ronald Wayne Strahan, 17, 1209 S. Nevada Ave. was charged with the same violation which happened also on Sunset Road. The officer was Charles Drake and a $6 fine and costs was imposed.

Drake ticketed Robert Tilton Overby, 44, 1414 Clemons Dr. for careless driving. The violation happened Friday on East Boulder Street and the defendant paid a $1 fine and costs.

Driving Under Suspension Brings $50 Fine

Larry Lee Gann, 20, 2512 W. Colorado Ave. was fined $50 and costs by Justice of the Peace James F. Quine Tuesday for driving while under suspension.

The defendant was ticketed Thursday on U.S. Highway 85-87 by State Patrolman Ken Sharlet.

Ben Joseph Meons, 38, 2724 N. Nevada Ave. was charged with not obeying the inspection law and fined $5 and costs. State Patrolman J. E. McDaniel gave him the ticket April 22 on Fillmore Street.

Bruford Jackson Durham, 47, 1514 W. Cheyenne Blvd. appeared on two separate charges of driving without a valid operator's license. On the first occasion he was ticketed April 15 on Nevada Avenue by State Patrolman Paul H. Cornell and on the second April 24 on North Circle Drive when the officer was B. D. Givens of the police. He was fined a total of $10 and $8 costs.

Five Theft Cases Reported in Area

Five cases of theft were reported to the sheriff's department Tuesday.

The first happened at King Auto Sales, 2445 E. Highway 24 where a transmission and battery worth a total of $270 was stolen from a car on the lot belonging to Dan M. Keser, 127 N. Hyman Ave.

The second incident was reported by Roscoe C. Humphrey, 602 Arrawanna St. who told Deputy Sheriff Lee Quinn he had been working on his five-ton truck at his home and someone had stolen the radiator. It is colored black with a silver back and worth $150.

The third theft took place at the Buffalo Lodge, 2 E. Paso Blvd. Herb Christensen of Kimball, Iowa, said that a transistor radio, electric razor, some T-shirts and $150 in change was stolen from his room.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Snuggs said there was no sign of forced entry.

Chuck Hosack, superintendent of a work site on the Arrow H Road reported the fourth incident. Two vent hoods worth $40 belonging to the Capital Door Co. Denver were taken from a garage at the Little Ranches of the Fountain on Arrow H Road.

The last theft happened at a cabin on 400 Columbia Road. A quantity of dishes and one blanket worth a total of $5 were stolen.

Chiropractor Guest Speaker at Pageant

Dr. Eugene I. Boettner, local Chiropractor was guest speaker at the Southern Colorado Chiropractic Society's Posture Queen Pageant at the Continental Pueblo Hotel.

The Queen of the Pageant, Miss Darla Huff of Pueblo, will represent the Southern Colorado Chiropractic Society in the state contest, held in Denver, May 2.

The state winner will represent Colorado in the World Posture Queen Pageant July 1, and at the American Chiropractic Association's National Convention, June 28.

Judging is based on posture, poise and personality with half the score depending on posture and fitness.

City Annexes Despite Objection to 'Island'

City Council Tuesday took action to annex the 427-acre Pikes Peak Vista Subdivision despite objections of some members that the action was leaving an "island" in the city.

The island is the 120-acre Potts Ranch which will be surrounded by city property.

Attorney Bernard Trotter, representing the Bilburn Investment Co., told council that he had exhausted every means at his disposal to get the Potts ranch owners to agree to annexation. He said his firm could delay no longer and would "sink or swim" with council's decision on the annexation of the remainder of the property.

Councilman Harold Hawks said he could not vote to annex the property because of the island. He was joined by Councilman William Roe.

Mayor Harry Hoth said that in a recent conversation with the owners of the ranch property, he was led to believe they were agreeable to annexation "if it meant the advancement of the community."

Hoth and city officials will meet with the owners of the property to determine if they would join the city.

The new subdivision will include an Industrial Park site across the highway from the Smartt site on which the Ampex plant will be located.

Trotter said that the firm he represents has several companies interested in the new industrial site but declined to elaborate.

Council authorized the mayor and city clerk to deed over to the County a 100-foot right of way for the extension of the highway.

Ent Team Wins 12-Gauge Team Event at Fiesta

The Ent Air Force Base Team continued to display fine shooting ability in winning the 12 gauge five man team event and individual honors in the Spring Fiesta at New Orleans last weekend.

The five man team shot a 488 out of a possible 500, which was 8 birds ahead of the nearest competitor in a field of five teams. Among their victims was the famed Lackland Marksmanship Team.

Gusty winds and rain held scores down somewhat, but competition was still keen. Individual scores were: George Johnston, 100; Jim Landers, 96; Carl Poston, 98; Jim Dozier, 99; Bob Carter, 95.

Johnston's 100 won him a tie with four others for the 12 gauge championship. In the shoot off that followed, Johnston went four additional rounds of 25 before being bested 25 to 24 by Dave Bywater of Lackland AFB.

Others of the Ent shooters who won individual honors were Grady Kimbrough and Carroll Williams. Kimbrough's 99 in the 12 gauge won him a tie for the Class B championship, but since the other shooter had the longest run without a miss, Kimbrough was declared Class B runner-up.

Carroll Williams, 96 in the 20 gauge won him a tie in Class C and as he possessed the longest run he was declared the Class C champion.

This weekend Ent will host the 2nd annual Pikes Peak Open at the Ent Rod and Gun Club. Peterson Field. This shoot is expected to draw top shooters from Nebraska and New Mexico as well as the Ent shooters.

Fillmore Street from the southwesterly line of Mesa Road across Utilities property to the north line of El Paso Lodge property.

City Manager John M. Biery said this was in accordance with the plans to extend Fillmore Street to the west side of the city.

M. M. Redburn asked council for permission to have double gutters instead of curbing installed in the 64 Improvement District section of the 800 Block of South Corona Street. Redburn said he needed the double gutters to insure off-street parking for the tenants of buildings there.

Council approved the request but Redburn rejected it after it was recommended that he install sidewalks around the parking area for pedestrian safety.

Board Members, Commission Not City Employees

Members of City boards and commissions are not considered as employees of the city and therefore can enter into business transactions with the city.

This was the decision of City Attorney F. T. Henry as accepted by City Council Tuesday. Council had asked Henry for the decision at an earlier meeting.

Henry pointed to Section 132 of the City Charter which states in part:

"The Mayor, Councilmen and Police Magistrate shall be officers of the city. All other persons in the service of the City or of any commission or board thereof are hereby declared to be employees."

Henry said that Section 141 provides in part that "no officer or employee shall receive any commission, money or thing of value, or drive any profit, benefit or advantage, direct or indirect, from or by reason of any dealings with or services for the City by himself or others."

The attorneys said that at the time Section 132 was adopted the City had a park commission, which hired its own employees and provided for their compensation.

He said the important sentence in the section is "All other persons in the service of the City or of any commission or board thereof are declared to be employees."

"I interpret this sentence to refer to 'persons in the service of any commission or board,' and I do not conclude that this sentence includes persons who are merely members of a board or commission. It is my opinion that members of the commissions and boards of the city are not city employees," Henry said.

Injury Suit Filed in District Court

A $29,900 personal injury suit was filed in District Court Tuesday morning by Marjorie M. Shupp, 1306 W. Colorado Ave., against Catherine Ann LeVelle, 19 E. Van Buren St.

It is alleged that the defendant drove into the Shupp car on the 300 block of North Nevada Avenue March 8 and that the plaintiff suffered "great bodily and mental pain and anguish and general disability."

It is also claimed the injuries are permanently disabling and may be progressive.

Group Appointed to Study Arts Festival Reducing Speed of Trains Set Thursday

A nine-man committee, in over Subdivision No. 4, an 18.85 mile long section of the Colorado Springs and Pueblo Railroad, has been appointed by the city to study the feasibility of reducing the speed of trains through the city.

Hoth announced the committee at Tuesday's council session. He had asked for and received permission April 15 to appoint the committee.

At that time Mayor Hoth mentioned the possibility of forcing trains to slow down to 5 miles per hour through the city as a safety factor. He and other councilmen accused the railroad of ignoring current speed limits and refusing to enhance existing safety factors.

Jasper Ackerman, president of the Exchange National Bank, was named as temporary chairman.

Other members of the committee are Ed Burke and Milton P. Tasson of the Rio Grande Railroad; Paul Getchell of the Burlington Railroad; M. E. Gibson of the Santa Fe Railroad; Col. C. A. Millson, president of the National Defense Association (ARADCOM); Norman Coleman, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Thayer Tutt of the Broadmoor and H. Chase Stone of the First National Bank.

Among other things, the committee will discuss the speed and safety of trains through the city especially as it applies to the safety of children, the general public and motorists at railroad crossings.

Hoth also asked the committee to study the problem being faced by the community because of the dwindling railroad service here. He has asked the committee to consider consolidation of some of the rail facilities and perhaps some of the rail trackage in the city.

In other action, council approved the final plat of Con-

Final concert in the Fifth Annual Southern Colorado State College Fine Arts Festival will be presented by the Pueblo Wind Symphony, Pueblo Choral and SCSU Concert Choir Thursday.

The program will be presented at 8 p.m. in the College Center ballroom.

The first portion of the concert will feature the wind group in "Fantasy and Capriccio" by Willis Shafter, "Overture for Wind Band" by Felix Mendelssohn, "Walk to Paradise Garden" by Frederick Delius, "Variations on a Medieval Tune" by Norman Delo Jojo and "George Washington Bridge" by William Shuman.

The wind symphonette is under the direction of Ralph Levy, associate professor of music at SCSU.

The choir and chorus will join the symphonette during the second half of the program to present the choral prologue to Bolshoi opera "Metastaseis," Italian operatic treatment of the Faust legend. Both vocal groups will be conducted by Doyle Muller, instructor of voice.

Miss Janet Hall, organist and Miss Mary Jane Oreskovich, pianist, will also participate in the program.

City Awards Two Major Contracts

City Council Tuesday awarded contracts for two major construction projects which will provide Colorado Springs with water and better airplane service.

Council unanimously awarded the contract for construction of a dam and tunnel and other work at the Homestead Project to Morrison-Knudsen Co., Inc., Boise, Idaho, which submitted the low bid of $14,330,252.70.

The City of Aurora, which is with Colorado Springs, took similar action Monday.

The other major bid approved here Tuesday was for improvements to Peterson Field. This contract went to Douglas Jardine of Colorado Springs with a low bid of $473,975.19.

In connection with the contract for Peterson Field, council authorized the proper city officials to execute a Grant Agreement between the City and the Federal Aviation Agency for the proposed work at the airport. The total amount of the agreement is for $514,423.29 of which the city's share will be $237,523.

An amendment was also added to the city's agreement for other work at Peterson Field with the FAA increasing the city's share from $125,894 for this work to $157,697. This work includes installation of lights and safety factors.

Council also passed a resolution adopting a state proposal for participation in construction of left-turn storage bays at nine intersections in the city. Total cost of the project, which will be undertaken by Colorado Springs, is $18,000 with the state reimbursing the city half that amount.

The bays, which are designed to facilitate the flow of through traffic, will be constructed where Nevada Avenue intersects with Fontanero Street, Uinta Street, Cache La Poudre, Boulder, Platte, Cucharas, Costilla, Camarron and Wahsatch.

Clinics Slated In Park County

Immunization clinics will be held Sunday in Park County for smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

The clinics will be open from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the Platte Canyon School in Shawnee, South Park High School in Fairplay, and Lake George School in Lake George.

The following immunization schedule is recommended by the American Academy of Pediatrics and the Colorado State Department of Public Health: DPT Series (diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), and te-tanus), a series of three shots given at one-month intervals.

DPT booster at ages 12-18 months and 4 years. DT Series (diphtheria-tetanus), a series of two shots should be given ONLY if the child did not receive his shots before age 5; DT booster, a booster is needed every four years after a series of either DPT or DT, smallpox vaccination, smallpox vaccinations should be given every three to five years.

"For your child's protection against serious communicable diseases," says Public Health Nurse Mae J. Swartz in Fairplay, "he needs immunization against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, and poliomyelitis."

These immunizations should be started during the first year of life. Miss Swartz said with booster shots at later intervals to maintain a high level of resistance to these diseases throughout life. We encourage families to go to their private physicians for these immunizations.

MORMON MILESTONE

A group of Mormons dedica-

This was destined to be the first

Father of Boy Saves His Son From Well

FOWLER (UPI)—A Fowler
father was credited today with saving his four-year old son
from serious injury and possibly death after the boy fell into an eight-inch water well test shaft near here Monday.

Otero County Deputy Sheriff
Charles Ayers said the accident happened on the W. H. Bray ranch a mile north and one-quarter mile east of Fowler, where Claude Ross, 44, was helping drill the shaft.

Ross turned his back on his son, Guy Roy, who had been watching. He heard the boy cry and ran back to the well. The boy had fallen in but had become wedged about four feet
down, Ayers said.

Ross could not free his son
but he grabbed the boy's hand and held on for more than an hour until a backhoe digger
could be summoned from Fowler. A trench was dug up to the boy and he was freed.

The boy was taken to a clinic
at Fowler, where he was reported in good condition.

HIDDEN MAIL

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The young mailman couldn't complete his rounds before dark, so before going home he hid all the letters he hadn't delivered—in trees, hedges, boxes and even in the public library.

The mailman's activities were discovered when a postoffice inspector found a basket of unde-livered letters in the local library. The mailman confessed and disclosed the rest of his hiding places. He was found guilty of hiding mail articles after he told the magistrate, "I was afraid to take them back to the post office because I felt my bosses were dissatisfied
when I returned with undelivered letters."

Shakespeare went to London for a career as actor and playwright in about 1588.

DENVER (UPI)—The Colorado Supreme Court ruled 6-0 Monday that a voter cannot be compelled to tell how he voted if the ballot was cast in good faith and not challenged by the election judges at the time.

Justice Frank Hall abstained in the decision which ruled out any further action in the case of a March 26, 1963, election in which Mrs. Charles Taylor was forced to disclose how she voted. They claimed she was not a resident of the area and not entitled to vote.

The court also ruled the election was invalid because the election judges allowed ballots to be dropped into the box without tearing off the identifying number. This resulted in marked ballots, the high court said.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Dr. Morgan is famous in the field of psychology because of his textbooks. But he was also the most popular psychology professor on the Evanston campus of Northwestern University. And he deserved such acclaim, for he worked hard to dramatize pedagogy.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

CASE 8-451: John J. B. Morgan and I were both teaching at Northwestern University at the same time.

He had the largest classes in psychology on our Evanston campus while I had the largest in our Chicago campus.

And Dr. Morgan was a superlative teacher. Mrs. Crane took her handkerchief, she would jump to her feet and shout "Glory, hallelujah."

Well, the students were naturally all agog to see if Dr. Morgan's instructions would be carried out.

Sure enough, about two minutes after the coed was awakened and sent back to her seat, Dr. Morgan would casually reach in his pocket and flip out his white handkerchief.

Whereupon, the girl would jump up and shout "Glory, hallelujah!"

Then, overcome by her own audacity, she'd blush like a beet and try to slide back down out of sight.

But Dr. Morgan would graciously relieve her of her embarrassment by explaining that she was simply carrying out the posthypnotic action that he had previously implanted in her mind.

Some of you readers may feel that Dr. Morgan was a crude sensationalizer for that's what some of his jealous colleagues said of him.

And they often made similar remarks about me on our Chicago campus of Northwestern.

But the students relished such courses. So registration had to be stopped for lack of seats.

Dr. Morgan used the largest lecture halls at Evanston, and my classes were even transferred to the Law School Auditorium just to accommodate the men and women who wanted to register for psychology.

In our evening department on the Chicago campus, some of the professors from Evanston would also lecture.

But those mature, older students, paying tuition out of their own pockets, would blackball any professor who couldn't make an interesting speech.

They'd actually go to the Dean and demand a refund on their tuition.

So we got better teaching on the Chicago campus than at Evanston because the monotonous speakers were tactfully weeded out.

Send for my "Test for Good Teachers" enclosing a long stamped, return envelope plus 20 cents.

It offers a quick yardstick for measuring real teaching talent, versus the "stuffed shirt" professors who are soporific.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Orton Scores Scientific Breakthrough

Irregularities about tungsten carbides—observed but unexplained for years—have been untangled by an Air Force Academy Mechanics professor.

While investigating the behavior of metallic tungsten in oxidizing and carbonizing atmospheres, Lt. Col. George Orton, associate professor of Mechanics, discovered two-phase transitions in the solid state that explain some of the irregularities.

Tungsten, a common alloying element in steel, is familiar as a light bulb filament, but has been used little as a structural material. Data recently obtained, however, on commercially pure tungsten indicate the metal maintains some strength in excess of 4,000 degrees.

One tungsten alloy has a strength of 60,000 pounds per square inch at 3,000 degrees so it appears tungsten may be emerging as a high strength material for high temperature use.

Because of tungsten's behavior in carbonizing atmospheres like those found in jet engines studies such as Col. Orton's have been launched.

The unusual behavior of the tungsten carbide, WC, used for years as a yard component in cutting tools, and W2C, can now be explained through Col. Orton's work.

He found WC is stable up to 3,200 degrees then decomposes into W2C and graphite. In a somewhat similar manner the W2C decomposes into WC and tungsten upon cooling to 2,370 degrees.

The fact that these reactions take place so slowly led to confusion.

Col. Orton determined an equilibrium diagram showing exactly what element or compound is stable at any temperature.

The results are published in the April issue of the Transactions of the Metallurgical Society, published by the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers.

Jets to Study Tornado Clouds And Lightning

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Jet planes that soon will ride herd on Oklahoma tornado clouds also will make an additional study of electrical discharges that have been plaguing commercial airliners lately.

Neal Ward, research meteorologist with the National Severe Storms Laboratory here, said Monday planes that will observe and, in some instances, penetrate storm clouds include a Navy F11 and an Air Force F100 and B17. A U2 craft based at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., will fly over the turbulent weather.

"The planes will be prepared for lightning strikes to determine what part of the cloud and what stage of the storm is more likely to produce the flashing discharge," Ward said.

DIET SHIFT
FARGO, N.D. (UPI)—In 1963, U.S. diets shifted in that people ate more meat, especially beef, more chicken and vegetables, but less fruit, fish and eggs, the Agricultural Information Department reports.

Women in Leotards Present Some Problems

MONTREAL (AP) — Firemen and police had their hands full Monday night hauling 37 women, most of them clad in leotards, out of a basement physical culture studio after they were overcome by smoke from a fire above.

Most of them were wearing only those black tights," said Police Chief Raymond Dion. "Some of them were heavy."

Candidate Says Sheriff's Post Is Archaic

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—Thomas M. Dugan has resigned from the peace corps to run as Democratic candidate for sheriff of Nassau County. But he wants the $18,500-a-year sheriff's post abolished. He says it's archaic.

Dugan, 36, of Greenvale, N.Y., announced his resignation and his candidacy Monday.

Dugan former agent for the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, called for formation of a county department of correction to be headed by a "qualified prison administrator," instead of an elected sheriff. He said the sheriff's job traditionally has been filled by a political hack.

Idea Makes Henry Reichman Multimillionaire

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—In 1961, Henry Reichman had an idea and was $20,000 in debt.

Today he is a multimillionaire.

Reichman made his quick fortune because people like to play games.

He has devised games which are played by supermarket customers for cash prizes.

His first game was Spell C-A-S-H and it went over with a bang.

Reichman estimates that he has sold a billion game cards to supermarkets in the last three years.

The games, like trading stamps, are intended to be trade stimulants in the highly competitive supermarket business.

"We have created the only new trend in the supermarket business since stamps were introduced," said Reichman in an interview.

"In two and one-half years we have developed a business in which supermarkets have spent $10 million on my game cards alone," Reichman has lots of competition but claims to dominate 80 per cent of the field.

Reichman was born in 1907 in Germany of a well-to-do family and came to the United States in 1929. He worked as a promoter in the supermarket field with varied success until he turned to games in 1961.

He says he believed that the only kind of game that had a chance against stamps had to involve cash.

Spell C-A-S-H was tested in September and October in Dayton, Ohio, he says.

The deal stipulated the store would have to supply a written report by a certified public accountant detailing the success and increases of customer count and sales.

"In that way, any chain I went to would have something in their hands that would be respected by everybody," he said.

Reichman's first real break came when Jewel Tea of Chi-

How to Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN
To the limit of

pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made who return

phone inquiries

Van Dellen will

ses or prescribe for individual diseases.
1964: By the Chicago Tribune

What keeps a man young?
Daily exercise, say the physical culturists and heart specialists, whereas certain foods are given credit by those who believe "you are what you eat."
Gen. Douglas MacArthur says youth is a state of mind and that nobody grows old merely by living a number of years.
Others use the negative approach. They are "agin' our daily poisons such as tobacco and alcohol. We went thru a period after World War I when exertion was deemed harmful.
Certain elderly statesmen bragged that about the only time
they exercised was when they acted as pallbearers for their friends who went in for sports.

Some blame the aging process on lack of certain hormones
or hardening of the arteries.
The possibilities along this line are endless, which means many factors must play a role in attaining a satisfying old age.

One is to inherit a strong constitution. Next, we must be lucky enough to avoid accidents and serious illnesses, especially during strategic periods of growth and development. We should follow the rules of good health to maintain the body and mind at peak efficiency. Avoid excesses of all kinds. Remember that unused muscles are likely to waste away. This is the rationale behind the recommendation to exercise regularly.

No single food has rejuvenating properties. It is difficult to improve on a balanced diet. A normal weight is essential. No one ever died of hard work but many have suffered from over-fatigue and frustration. The body and mind were made to be used but not abused.

See your physician at regular intervals for the detection and treatment of medical conditions that might shorten life.
And live as though you were going to live forever—and in spirit you will.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Vitamin Deficiencies
F.C. writes: Are there blood tests to disclose vitamin deficiencies?

Reply
A blood test for vitamin C can be done by most laboratories but tests for other vitamins are more difficult to do except in a research institute.
Physicians usually rely upon symptoms and a history of the eating habits to diagnose a nutritional deficiency.

Healed Lung Spot
Mrs. F.B. writes: What is the meaning of a Ghon condition?
Reply
This is a small healed tubercular lesion, usually in the lower part of the right lung. It represents the type of tuberculosis that usually affects children and often is so mild it escapes detection.

Enlarging Bones
D.B. writes: I have been told
I have acromegaly. Please write about this disease.
Reply
This is a disorder of the pituitary. Excessive secretions from this gland lead to progressive enlargement of the head, face, hands, feet, and chest.

Painful Chest
W.P. writes: What can be done for neuralgia of the chest?
Reply
Apply heat and use an anal-gesic such as aspirin. The back must be treated when pain
comes from arthritis of the spine.

Full Of Fears
W.P. writes: Is there any way to help an ex-alcoholic?
This man hasn't had a drink
in seven years but he remains nervous and full of phobias.
Reply
His physician may wish to recommend a tranquilizer.

BUSYWORKERS

Miss Ruth Applethorn from the County Extension Office in Colorado Springs gave the Busyworkers 4-H Club a lesson in judging at a recent meeting. She also assisted members in judging material for a skirt scissors for cutting out a dress and table settings.

After the judging was completed, a short business meeting was held. Melba Kelley acted as president in the absence of Beth Carson.

County 4-H Largest Ever Under Stoltz

Increased emphasis on membership by Stanley H. Stoltz has resulted in the largest 4-H enrollment in the history of El Paso County.

Stoltz, assistant extension agent, came to El Paso County in August, 1963. One of his first projects was to get a membership drive underway. He appointed Karen Horn, junior leader, as chairman of a membership committee.

Other committee members included Barbara Haase, Bob Taylor and Mrs. Edwin Reib, adult leader.

This committee arranged for leaders and 4-H members to visit elementary schools and talk with prospective members and parents. Nearly every elementary school in the county was visited during the campaign. Several clubs participated, but one of the most active was the Maizeland Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Eva McCune. Stoltz's main concern was to acquaint the urban youth with the 4-H program. Many projects are available to the youth in cities and towns, but too many people still regard the program as strictly rural.

The El Paso County 4-H Foundation was the next major item to be faced by Stoltz. This foundation had been discussed for several years, but under Stoltz it became an actuality.

The foundation was organized to give financial aid to students who are selected as delegates to state and national conferences. Future plans call for a scholarship fund.

Shrubs Serve a Purpose In Your Landscape Plan

By STANLEY H. STOLTZ

El Paso County Extension Service

Last time we looked into varieties of evergreens and trees for Colorado, now, what about shrubs?

Just as trees have a basic purpose in your landscape plan, usually to provide shade, shrubs can also serve a purpose.

Shrubs do a fine job of screening off an area like the incinerator. They can act as separators between definite areas of the lawn such as patio, garden or play area. Plantings along the foundation are suited perfectly for shrubs. Last, but not least, shrubs can provide excellent points of interest with a great variety of shape, foliage, and flower color. Listed below are some of the most common shrubs that will do well in our local soils. Contact your local county agent for a more complete list. TALL SHRUBS (8-10 feet).

CRANBERRY BUSH (VIBURNUM) commonly called highbush cranberry. Has white flowers and red berries. Usually planted in twos and threes. Very densely leaved.

LILAC, many varieties from common to Persian. Deep green leaves very hardy. Beautiful flowers from white, pink, red, blue to purple, often fragrant.

PURPLELEAF PLUM used mainly for contrast as leaves are deep purple.

HONEYSUCKLE, leaves not as dense or deep as lilac. Fast-growing, hardy, pink to red flowers, red berries.

SNOWBALL, A real eye-catcher when in bloom with large "snowball" clusters of white flowers. Not as hardy as honeysuckle. MEDIUM SHRUBS (5-7 feet).

CO-TO-NE-ASTER, Very hardy, has to-ne-aster. Very hardy, has attractive black or red berries in the fall and holds leaves well. Plant in an informal area.

CAROLBERRY, small yellow flowers, coral red berries, can plant in shade.

FORSYTHIA, flowers appear in April before leaves show. Many different selections are available.

GOLDEN NINEBARK, interesting shrub with golden-colored leaves. Flowers in late spring.

JAPANESE QUINCE or flowering quince: flowers or red or pink in April; very hardy.

MOCKORANGE, nice shape; has showy white flowers in May.

DOGWOOD, the redtwig variety has brilliant red twigs in winter, white flowers in spring followed by berries. Especially good for a "point of interest" plant.

SPIREA, Vanhoutte is the common white flowering variety planted in this area.

EUONYMUS, pronounced e-no-e-mus. These are usually evergreen. That is, they keep their leaves in the winter. The "winged" euonymus has a very corky bark and good fall color. SMALL SHRUBS (up to 4 feet).

BARBERRY, The Japanese variety is compact, has red berries in the fall. The redleaf variety has attractive red foliage all season long.

SPIREA (small, 1-3 feet) several small shrubs for interesting contrast. Blue mist blooms in late summer through fall with powdery blue fringed flowers. Froebel spirea can be planted in the shade, has pink flowers from mid-summer until fall. Garland spirea will bloom in early May with white flowers.

FLOWERING ALMOND, beautiful low shrub but not entirely hardy. Has double white or pink flowers.

To plant any of these shrubs, follow these simple rules:

1. Decide what height you want the mature shrub to be and buy a variety to fit your need. An 8 foot lilac won't fit into an area where you need a 2 foot spirea. Pick the color of flower, foliage or fall berries of different shrubs to fit into your landscaping plans.

2. If the shrub is "bare-root" (not already planted into a container when purchased) prune the root ends back an inch or two to help promote early growth. Cut off any damaged portions of roots. If the shrub is already in a container or is "balled" (wrapped in burlap) do not disturb the roots.

3. Be sure to make the planting hole big enough so the roots will not be crowded. If the shrub is bare-root, be sure to spread the roots as you plant. Don't just jam it into the hole and fill it with dirt.

4. Pack the soil firmly around the root so no air pockets remain. Soak the planting thoroughly and plan to leave a depression at the top so you can continue to water around the plant. If you have some peat moss, mix some of it with the soil you put back around the roots to help keep this soil loose.

5. It's a good idea to prune the top back on your shrub. You may think you are cutting back the height of the plant, but if pruned back, the plant will do much better the first year. At the end of the second year prune shrubs will generally be bigger than those not pruned.

6. For best results in our soils, you should plan to fertilize your shrubs about a week after planting. I've found the application of a liquid chelated iron, or iron sulfate, first, works best. Follow the iron in 3 or 4 days with a good plant fertilizer with an analysis of 8-12-4. It's a mistake to put a high nitrogen fertilizer on this type of plant. Feed them a balanced food (example: 8-12-4) with a higher phosphorous content than nitrogen.

7. Watch your new plant for insects. The best control here would be a multi-purpose insecticide containing malathion, chlordane, and kelthane. This type of insecticide takes the guess-work out of what to use for which insect since it is a mixture that will control all types of insects.

8. Fertilize again in late summer. Do not wait until late fall to fertilize as this will stimulate growth too late in the season and this soft growth would probably be winter-killed or damaged. THINGS TO DO: You should plant some of the garden plants like beets, carrots, lettuce, onions, peas, radishes and chard this month.

If you have a lot of thatch (build up of clippings, etc.) in your lawn, power-rake it. Get a good commercial fertilizer (20-10-5, with chelated iron) on your lawn and water it in to give it the food and strength it will need for spring growing.

Pueblo May Get Negro Workers From Mississippi

DENVER (UPI)—State Employment Director Bernard Teets said today at least 75 Negro farm workers from Mississippi are expected to be brought to Colorado this June under a trial program to replace Mexican braceros.

Teets said his office has received an order for that number. He said they would be college students recruited at Prentiss, Miss.

Teets said the Negroes would be used on several farms in the Pueblo area having a total of about 1,000 acres planted in vegetables.

The Negro farm labor experiment was agreed on in case Congress allows the bracero program to expire at the end of this year.

In the past, Colorado farmers have used about 8,000 to 12,000 Mexican nationals each to supplement the farm labor force. Teets said that if the bracero program is not extended Colorado faces a critical labor shortage.

State Farmers Experience Lower Income

DENVER (UPI)—Colorado farmers realized $671,481,000 in cash for their efforts during the severe drought year of 1963—5 per cent less than in 1962 but 10 per cent more than the 1957-61 average of $610,350,000, the Colorado Crop and Livestock Reporting Service announced Friday.

The report said $628,154,000 of the 1963 total represented cash receipts from marketing and $43,327,000 was in government payments. The cash receipts from marketing total was down 6 per cent from 1962 and the lowest in four years, but government payments were up 8 per cent from the preceding year to a record level.

Income from sale of crops in 1963 totaled $197,706,000, compared to $223,671,000 in 1962. The 1963 total was the lowest in six years and accounted for 31 per cent of total cash income.

Sales of livestock and livestock products last year totaled $430,448,000—down 3 per cent from the 1962 record high but above the 1957-61 average of $364,824,000.

Average gross income per farm in 1963 was $20,782, down 2 per cent from 1962, and total net income per farm operator last year was $2,820—compared to $3,593 the preceding year.

Deadline for First Month's Lawn Contest Moved Back

Due to the fact that lawns in the southeastern part of the community haven't had enough time to get a full growth and green up as they should, the deadline for the May Lawn of the Month contest has been extended to Monday, May 11.

That simply means that you still have about 10 days to get your entry in for the first month's contest.

A nice list of prizes will be offered to the first place winner of each month's contest. So far the list includes, from California Chemical Co., a 15-gallon lawn sprayer, one quart of lawn fungicide, one quart of weed killer, one pint of garden spray, 10 ounces of rose dust, one quart of rose food, and one pound of Ortho Klor 10, from Manco Chemical Co., a one-year supply of fertilizer, and from Scott's, the Lawn People, a Scott's E-Z Spreader and one sack of Turf Builder.

The May contest includes all of that area south of East Pikes Peak Avenue and east of South Nevada Avenue, including Security and Wildfield, Stratmor Hills, Pikes Peak Park, and other housing areas in that part of the community with the exception of Fountain.

The June contest will be held in the area west of South Nevada Avenue and south of West Pikes Peak Avenue. For the June contest, the dividing line in Manitou Springs will begin with the intersection of West Pikes Peak Avenue and Ridge Road, and west of North Nevada Avenue will be judged. Cascade, Green Mountain Falls, Chippita Park and Woodland Park are not included in the contest.

In August all of the area east of North Nevada Avenue and north of East Pikes Peak Avenue will be judged. This area includes additions as far north as Falcon Estates but does not include Black Forest.

Persons who plan to enter the June, July or August contest may send their entries in prior to their contest, although it is suggested that they do not do so, as there is some danger of the entries being lost in the ensuing period.

Lawns will be judged on the basis of their freedom from weeds, density of the grass, its color, purity of stand, grade and level and height of cut.

All entries must be made on the coupon provided. Be sure to check the area in which you are located, using the space provided.

CONTEST RULES
1. The Lawn of the Month contest is open to any homeowner in the area of the monthly contest.

All lawns registered must be a minimum of 1,500 square feet in size.

3. Participants agree to have both front and backyard lawns open for inspection by the judges from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily. All lawn areas of each home entered will be judged.

4. Participants agree not to allow dogs to roam freely in the back yard while judges are making their inspections.

5. Judges shall score each lawn and record the score.

6. Judges shall recognize that lawns must be watered and mowed regularly and shall make due allowance for these operations.

7. Judges' decisions will be final.

8. Participants agree to these rules by submitting entry.

9. Winners agree to open lawns to public inspections.

10. Registration forms must be postmarked before midnight, April 20, and mailed before midnight on the 20th of each month thereafter during the contest. Mail entries to Lawn of the Month Contest, Gazette Telegraph, 30 S. Prospect, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Great Western Unveils Hybrid Germ Beet Seed

A long-sought hybrid germ seed which could produce per-acre sugar beet yields of up to 15 per cent was unveiled recently by Frank A. Kemp, president of the Great Western Sugar Co.

Kemp said the seed is the result of more than six years of work in Great Western's research and experiment station at Longmont, Colo. He said a few acres will be planted this year, and the seed will be available commercially by 1966.

The predicted production increase would be on top of the impressive gains in production made by sugar beet growers since the beginning of World War II, up from 13 to 16 tons per acre.

Kemp predicted future prosperity for the agricultural industry. He said increases in population and in the level of consumption will boost the demand for agricultural products.

Barbara Haase, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Haase, 2628 N. Circle Dr., will represent El Paso County as one of the 33 4-H members selected to attend the course.

Frank McCumber, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. George McCumber, Florissant, and a junior leader, will represent Teller County.

A senior at Wagon High School, Miss Haase ranks in the upper 50 per cent of a class with over 700 members. She plays in the school band.

She is active in church work, having been selected as Miss Christ Ambassador by the entire congregation of the First Assembly of God Church.

Barbara is in her ninth year of 4-H work, four years of which has been spent in junior leadership. She is president of the County 4-H Council and secretary of the Junior Leaders.

She has completed projects in foods, clothing, home furnishings and junior leadership and has given demonstrations in county and state contests. She has been on the county 4-H judging team for two years, and is a member of the recruitment committee.

McCumber has completed nine years of 4-H work. During that time he has served as president of the Teller County 4-H Council, and as president of his own group, the Mountain Valley 4-H Club, which he helped to reactivate in 1960.

He has been active on the Teller County Livestock Judging Team and is now assisting the County Extension Agent with younger team members as coach.

He was chosen as the outstanding junior leader in Teller County in 1963.

McCumber was a top student in high school and graduated as salutatorian of his class. He has completed one year at Lamar Junior College.

Active in school athletics, McCumber served as assistant basketball coach at Brookhurst Boys' Ranch which is operated by the Woodland Park Lions Club.

Rebloom Lilies Two Ways, Says Horticulturist

Easter lilies can be rebloomed, and there are two ways to do it, says C. M. (Chuck) Drage, Colorado State University extension horticulturist.

The lily should be kept in a moderately cool, draft-free place and given considerable light. After blooming, keep the plant in a sunny window and continue to water until the foliage begins to ripen. Then withhold water and dry off completely.

About the middle of May, knock the bulb out of the pot and plant it outside in a sunny, well-drained soil. Plant the bulb about six inches deep.

Frequently the result will be a few flowers in late summer, unless growing conditions are adverse or the plant is weak. The lily may persist in the garden for several seasons. However, none of the lilies commonly forced for Easter are reliably hardy and winters may kill them.

A thick mulch will aid winter survival. In no case should an attempt be made to force the bulb again as a pot plant, the horticulturist explains, its strength has been exhausted.

Here is the second way of handling your Easter lily. After the plant has been dried off, leave the bulb in the pot but put it in a good growing situation so it will resume growth. Water lightly until new shoots appear, then water more freely.

Feed the plant every two weeks with a complete liquid fertilizer. It will usually reflower about August. The blooms will be smaller, but generally satisfactory. After this second flowering, discard the bulb, Drage concludes.

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP)—A group of students at Southampton College of Long Island University are learning fire-fighting, along with the more usual educational courses.

The 20-man volunteer fire crew was organized to serve as a stop-gap when necessary until the regular town unit arrived. But with regular weekly training the group has developed into something of a self-sustaining unit, according to Professor John Luongo, assistant dean of men who doubles as fire marshal.

The college-operated fire brigade is equipped with two pumper trucks and, besides the fire-fighters, has a three-man rescue squad, fire police to handle traffic and fire wardens, including two girl students.

Farm and Ranch Roundup

By Robin Tibbets

DAVE RICE, executive vice president of the Colorado Cattlemen's Association, may have something when he suggests that the beef import question has been clouded by numerous side issues.

Writing in the April issue of Cattle Guard magazine, Dave insists that the import question is the number one issue and that livestock leaders are getting off the trail when they suggest that lack of efficiency in the livestock industry is the major problem.

Of course, there are two ways to look at the situation: some wars are won when the opposing forces are enjoined in a major and decisive battle; others are won by the side that comes out the victor in little skirmishes. A lot depends upon the importance of the side issues.

IF YOU think the days of the Old West are gone, consider a report from Amarillo, Texas, about two rangers who have been charged with the theft of 34 cattle from a Texas ranch. The two men, one of whom has the unbelievable nickname of "Rattlesnake Reckless," also wanted in five other counties in the state.

Butter has become a laughing matter in France. A new comedy called "Cooking With Butter" or "La Cuisine au Buerre" brought together a butter marketer and a motion picture production company. The picture will no doubt have some pretty slick lines.

Anyway the producer was smart; the butter man is going to pay his advertising bill and give his show additional publicity by placing the pictures of the stars on a new wrapper.

PERHAPS U.S. beef growers should take a page from the butter man's book and sponsor a Hollywood movie. They could back a show about a group of high-class rustlers who manipulate the livestock market to pay their gambling debts. The picture could be called "The Steaks are High" or something like that.

THE LONG, COLD WINTER is apparently over. The anemones are blooming. They got started a couple of months late this year, which is unusual, since they usually begin to bloom in February. That indicates something, but I can't quite put my finger on it. Perhaps it means we're going to have a brief but hot summer. WITH SO MANY 4-H Clubs in

Horticultural Society to Grow AA Selections

Mrs. Walter Freudenberg, president of the new Colorado Springs Horticultural Arts Society, has announced that the society has been designated as an All-American Selections Demonstration Garden.

Seeds of new award-winning varieties of annual flowers are furnished to the society prior to their introduction in trade channels. At the present time, there are only 16 such gardens located in the United States.

The Horticulture Arts Society garden will be located in an area south of the city greenhouse in Monument Valley Park. The garden will be maintained by members of the society. This year's seed has been received and has already been started in flats from which plants will be transplanted in the demonstration garden.

Mrs. Freudenberg has advised that it is still not too late to become a charter member of the society. Persons interested in joining may direct their inquiries to Post Office Box 6412.

Other demonstration gardens are located in Kenneth Square, Pa.; Tuxedo Park, N.Y.; Hershey, Pa.; Norfolk, Va.; Arcadia, Calif.; Norfolk, Canada; and Kansas City, Mo.

Chairmen of standing committees of the society include Gertrude Heinrichsdorff and Henry Connell, building and grounds; George Vradenburg, ways and means; Mrs. Guy Burgess, membership; Miss Grace Streetz, librarian; Arthur Langman, program; Col. James A. Wilson, publicity; Mrs. Lindsey Fischer, historian; Mrs. Frank Thomas, hospital.

Mrs. Marion Black Williams is editor of the newsletter, with Sidney Novis in charge of publication and distribution.

Special projects chairmen include Mrs. Williams, All-American Selections Demonstration Garden; Ruth Ashton Nelson, Native Plants Garden.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater and his son, Barry Jr., are being sued by a dress designer who says he is still owed money for dresses he designed for the Goldwater girls.

DeLee's attorney said the dresses were worn at a rally for Goldwater and also at a $100-a-plate dinner held recently in the Sports Arena.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Modern View Of Marriage

Yesterday, we began a discussion of marriage and the sexual relationship. And we have been warned that our view will be unpopular. For who can equate the toil and trouble of earning and saving with the vista of a lifetime of romance and the desirable condition leading to a more productive economy. Without meaning at all to minimize the importance of love in any kind of permanent union, we will still contend that marriage is an important economic contract and must be considered on these grounds.

At present in this nation, there is enormous social pressure being exerted by various moving pictures and television. Indeed, the economic nature and not excluding certain magazines, toward a revision of our general understanding of marriage. The practice of "wife-buying" among savages and primitive peoples gives some evidence of extramarital relations that economic factors were considered as "sinful" and "sordid" as inevitable, in very wicked, whereas similar early periods. Also, the custom relations within a legal framework of the dowry demonstrates rather work were viewed as constructive or thoroughly that the economic and desirable.

This general view is what is being attacked on many fronts and some provision had to be made for the lack of concern. It is claimed that within the framework of what could be called a "Victorian" morality people were no different than we are today. That sexual promiscuity did occur and the trend today toward more extensive and open sexual activity is really a healthy sign, a throw-off of the shackles, as it were, of the ungodly and dishonest repression.

But this is nothing more than a symptom of the times we live in. In tandem with this view is the general idea that production is easy that there is plenty of money and good things for everyone, and that what we really need is a better system of distribution. The emphasis is on spending and pleasure, not on saving and hard work.

In this country, we tend to be romantic and still look at marriage as a relationship which has little to do with the economic facts of life. We usually ask our offspring to be certain that they "love your best."

Only in certain instances do we become so crass as to inquire concerning the ability of the yearning male to provide for his spouse and the children that may ensue. Marriage is looked upon as an emotional fulfillment rather than an economic contract.

Yet, today with our emphasis upon the casual and informal, these economic matters are frequently neglected. "Let sive and open sexual activity is really a healthy sign, a throw-off of the shackles, as it were, of the ungodly and dishonest repression." But this is nothing more than a symptom of the times we live in. In tandem with this view is the general idea that production is easy that there is plenty of money and good things for everyone, and that what we really need is a better system of distribution. The emphasis is on spending and pleasure, not on saving and hard work.

In this country, we tend to be romantic and still look at marriage as a relationship which has little to do with the economic facts of life. We usually ask our offspring to be certain that they "love your best."

Government Intrusion Into Marriage Relationships

We are going to contend, contrary to the general view that legal sanction is the foundation for successful marriage, that it is the legal aspect of the relationship which is tending to undermine the permanency of the marriage relationship.

As pointed out above, a generation or so ago the concept was that extramarital relations were sinful. The rejection of this idea, although it is still sustained by theology in general, relates to a recognition slowly emerging that the character of the marital act cannot be intrinsically evil.

It is absurd to assume that the same act is both natural and right if it is licensed, and wicked and wrong if there is no license. The nature of the act hasn't changed. All that has happened is that a small fee has been paid to the state. Young people are entirely incompetent to recognize the discrepancy of logic in the legal intrusion, and, in consequence, there is a great tendency to overlook the other factors of the case. If sex is natural and right under certain circumstances, why isn't it natural and right under any circumstances? So runs the argument. This throws into sharp relief the utter futility of trying to legislate moral behavior. Today there are many, possibly a majority of our young men and women, who no longer look at the sexual relationship within a moral framework. They conclude that the act itself is theirs by right and that the only error relates to discovery. Further, that the discovery itself isn't wrong unless it is made by the presumed natural enemy of youth, the parent or guardian.

Thus, the ability to weigh the consequences of indiscriminate extramarital behavior is on the wane. Having downgraded their own ability to understand the contractual obligations, both real and implied, they now look at sex about the way a motorist looks at the speed he takes as he drives. Any speed is satisfactory, if only he isn't caught. He is less interested in ordinary rules of safety than in the presence of a representative of the law.

Besides, with the emphasis upon temporary unions, in or out of wedlock, the legal requirements are easy to avoid. Even our enormous government is not omnipotent enough to patrol the amorous proclivities of our youth on an around-the-clock basis. Nor are the youth the exclusive dupes of the "new morality." Adults of all ages are setting a magnificent example of irresponsibility in the human contractual relationship.

But government intrusion here is far from a one-pronged usurpation. There are now government regulations in many

Collectivism - Plus

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, PhD

The word collectivism may be defined as a political or economic system or theory which advocates collective control over the means of production and services. During the past few years, collectivism has been largely used to describe oppressive government in government. For the purpose of examining collectivism as an economic theory, let's begin by ignoring governmental collectivism.

A theory of collective control can provide interesting reading or an interesting subject for debate and discussion. Practical application of a collectivist theory indicates that collectivism is not what it appears to be at first glance. For instance, we drove up a little-used road along the Colorado River and managed to get stuck in the sand. As we jacked up one wheel, a crowded station wagon came by, stopped, and a half dozen extremely sturdy people alighted and said, "You're working too hard, we'll push you out."

As a dozen strong hands fastened on our car, I thought, this is a good example of a collective effort accomplishing something which none of the people could accomplish individually. The six people tugged and shoved and the car rocked but nothing else happened. Then one man said, "Take it easy, now. Just get your breath and I'll count one — two, and then we'll shove." And about five seconds later the car was being pushed out of the sand and on to a firm surface. Collective effort! I suppose you could call it that. Two people pushed at the back of the car and two pushed on each side, and all six of them pushed at a given signal, which was given by one individual, and that's the way collectivism is made to work — under the direction and control of one individual. If the theory of collective control had been used, we might be still shoving and pushing and getting no place.

Service clubs, religions, sects, clubs, cults and organizations bow to the collectivist theory but those bows add up to a total of nothing but just so many bows. Communism has adopted the idea of all for one and one for all, share and share alike.

states regarding blood-typing. You can't get married if the state decrees otherwise. Further, if children are born out of wedlock, the state will provide. This provision is now carried to such an extreme that it has introduced a quasi-governmental career on the part of many an attractive young woman with more generosity in her heart than genetic understanding in her head.

Since parents do not have to provide schooling for their children, there is little incentive here to foresee and plan for the raising of children. The state has inspired incidental fornication. Let the state assume the responsibility for the upkeep of the offspring as well as providing for the schooling and the hot lunches.

These ideas which were encouraged legally in Russia by Lenin, met with little if any success in the first years of the Soviet socialist paradise. Finally the Russian government, through popular pressure, reversed itself, and marriages in Russia today are far more durable than our own increasingly casual alliances in this country.

We will discuss the marriage contract in tomorrow's editorial.

or according to need, collective control, or you name it, but practical application requires a leader, boss, president, head or director and a variety of sub-leaders and bosses. It's always a little like a football team and the idle conversation about a team effort. Sure, every individual member of the team is involved, but one player calls the signals, another may act as a field captain, and a coach who depends upon the team effort instead of getting into the act of bossing the bosses and each individual player, can't be found.

Now, this is where the little arguer begins hollering. "But we need leaders." I believe it is obvious that the theory of collective control is not at the same time a theory of leadership and control by individuals. Collectivism begins in the mind of an individual who believes a lot of people should get together to accomplish something under his control. In the rare instances where the instigator does not seek power or control over others, somebody else takes over the idea and the control. As a matter of fact, it seems to me that collectivism is a myth designed to trap the unwary who may be quite violently opposed to a dictatorship. To the collectivist theory we might add: collective control — under what leadership?

But collectives go on and on. Efforts at communal living under collective control, under financial control of a dictator, lead the signals, another may act as a field captain, and a coach who depends upon the team effort instead of getting into the act of bossing the bosses and each individual player, can't be found.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

TRAFFIC MEANDERING

To the Editor:

Before the "paint buggies" sally forth to smear our streets with yellow single or double lines, would it not be advisable to make a proper survey as to just where these lines should be placed? Due to changing conditions throughout the city it seems only fair that stores or business firms should be given some consideration as to the needs of their customers so that they can get from one side to the other without TRAVELING BLOCKS TO DO SO, and causing needless turning at intersections. Large cities do all they can to eliminate turns at intersections. Some permit "U" turns in the middle of a block (if traffic permits it).

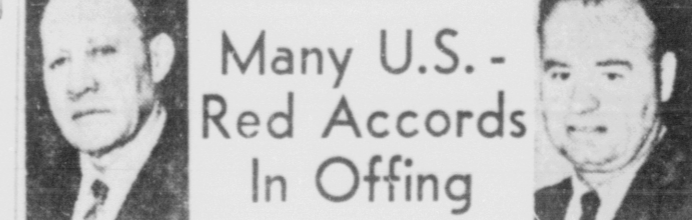

In spite of downtown congestion we see plenty of "merry-go-round" driving and the needless congestion caused by it. Why not do something to eliminate unnecessary travel and turning in the neighborhoods? For illustration, a motorist traveling north on Tejon finds a sign on the pavement just north of the Fountain Creek bridge which reads: "NO LEFT TURN" right where one could enter the Safeway parking lot. WHAT TO DO? If he obeys this sign, he has to drive on past Safeway one block, turn right at Las Vegas, then left on Nevada, go north about three blocks to Rio Grande (unless he takes a chance at an unprotected left turn turning left at Mill Street), then at Rio Grande a left turn to Tejon, another left turn, and goes south three blocks to Safeway, all this in order not to "cross a yellow line."

For a customer to leave this store and go north on Tejon and not cross a yellow line, he must go south across the bridge to Arvada, two blocks, turn left, go one block to Nevada, another left turn and go two blocks or so to Las Vegas, another left turn, and finally a right turn onto Tejon, all to get to go north from Safeway.

How can such meandering speed up traffic or lessen congestion, please tell me. If it is against the ordinance to cross a yellow line, then it should be enforced or repealed. Continued violation of one ordinance without penalty breeds the abuse of others and finally contempt for the law. A solution would be to have "breaks" in the yellow line or lines at proper places where one can cross from one side of the street to the other, without unnecessary travel and turns at the intersections. Many of our supermarkets provide ample free parking, but because of needless regulations are made inconvenient to use because of over-regulation and

Allen-Scott Report

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Those fan-fared U.S. and Russian reductions in fissionable material for nuclear weapons are just the beginning, more and even bigger agreements are in the works.

Some of these potential accords are quite imminent — barring last-minute upsets.

Ambassador Foy Kohler took with him a large portfolio of these new proposals when he returned to Moscow from his recent consultations in Washington. And President Johnson and Ambassador Dobrynin reviewed them in their long White House discussion recently.

These potential agreements cover a wide spectrum, as follows:

IN IMMEDIATE FUTURE
Opening of additional consulates in the two countries — initiated by President Kennedy, but aborted several times by cold war crises.

Moscow-New York air route — another Kennedy plan that has been on and off for several years.

Sale of upwards of $500 million of surplus farm commodities over a period of three or more years. The Soviet is definitely interested in such purchases despite outward indifference.

Long-term credits for the sale of so-called non-strategic goods. These would include chemical, fertilizer and plastic plants which the Reds urgently desire under the multi-billion dollar agricultural expansion program proclaimed by Khrushchev.

LONG RANGE
Formal or informal agreement not to distribute nuclear weapons and material to other nations — including Red China and France.

Joint cutback in troops by the U.S. in Europe and the Soviet in the satellites.

Destruction of the Berlin Wall in exchange for placing West Berlin and Allied access routes under United Nations control.

Neutralization of South Vietnam in return for the supervised withdrawal of Viet Cong forces.

WHAT'S BEHIND IT

Basis of this "grand design" as it's being pretentiously described by State Department insiders, are policies formulated and actively pursued by President Kennedy and his key foreign affairs lieutenants — who are equally influential in President Johnson's inner councils.

It was this powerful group, spearheaded by Dr. Walt Rostow, head of the State Department's Policy Planning Council, that drafted the controlling "position paper" on U.S.-Soviet relations — which is still in full effect.

This basic policy concept, predicated on the principle that the "U.S. to the extent possible in the existing climate should grant to the U.S.S.R. the position its status as a great power warrants," has been wholly accepted by President Johnson and is being vigorously pressed by him.

For that purpose, this momentous "position paper" enunciates a number of primary measures, foremost among them the following:

"The U.S. should hold out, by word and deed, the prospect of fuller Soviet participation and influence in the community of free nations if and as the Soviet leaders show a genuine interest and will for such constructive participation.

"U.S. officials should press for cooperative ventures in such fields as outer space, public health, uses of atomic energy, air travel, and cultural exchanges.

"The President should seek to avoid formal summit negotiations of the 1955 and 1960 variety, except where needed business cannot otherwise be transacted. One such case may be where the full authority of the head of government is needed to halt a chain of military action and counteraction leading to war.

"The President should develop informal contacts and exchanges with top Soviet leadership which would — unlike more formal summit meetings — be viewed more as a forum for communication than negotiation.

"Our long-term purpose toward the Soviet is to increase the chance of constructive evolution within that society which might eventually move it to participate in the community of free nations."

The Local Scene

Altitudes

By RUFUS L. PORTER

There has always been a great deal of controversy over the effect of "high" altitudes on people's health. While it is true that many do find that they cannot live in comfort at any great distance above sea level, the average person is very adaptable to the rarified atmosphere at least up to ten or twelve thousand feet.

It does take from ten days to three weeks, though, for one to become accustomed to the altitude in the Colorado Springs area after moving here from a comparatively low altitude. During this period of acclimation one should be careful of over-exertion, especially if past the 40-year mark. Breathe deeply, walk slowly, take it easy on the stairs. In a few days time you will find your breath comes easier, your heart-beat is returning to near normal and this improvement will continue until you will be able to "run uphill" as well as the natives. Then you will begin to realize that you were really made for the high altitudes. You will feel better, eat better and sleep better than you ever did in the heavy, stuffy, humid, low-altitude places you have been used to.

Even automobiles have to be acclimated. You wonder why the old car doesn't pull so good on mountain roads as it did on the hills back home. The solution is to take your car to a mechanic and have him install "high-altitude jets" in your carburetor and it will regain its lost zoom and will also save you gas. Your car, even as you, needs more oxygen and must gulp in more air to get it. That is the reason for the deeper breathing.

It is also the reason a fair race horse that is native to the area can easily win over an excellent one that had recently been moved here from a lower altitude. The same is true in all sports. Attend a hockey game and notice how much harder the lowlanders have to breathe than the players who are acclimated. Hockey and swimming coaches often give their players from the flatlands "whiffs" of oxygen from a tank during a contest.

There are occasions when people do "pass out" on a trip up Pikes Peak, but they are very rare, and a swift return to a lower altitude brings a quick recovery. Generally the victim starts perking up as soon as timberline is passed on the way down. Some folks, having heard of these episodes, are inclined to be afraid to explore all the wonderful sights in the region. But the chances are that if they exercise due caution they will suffer no ill effects even at the top of the Peak.

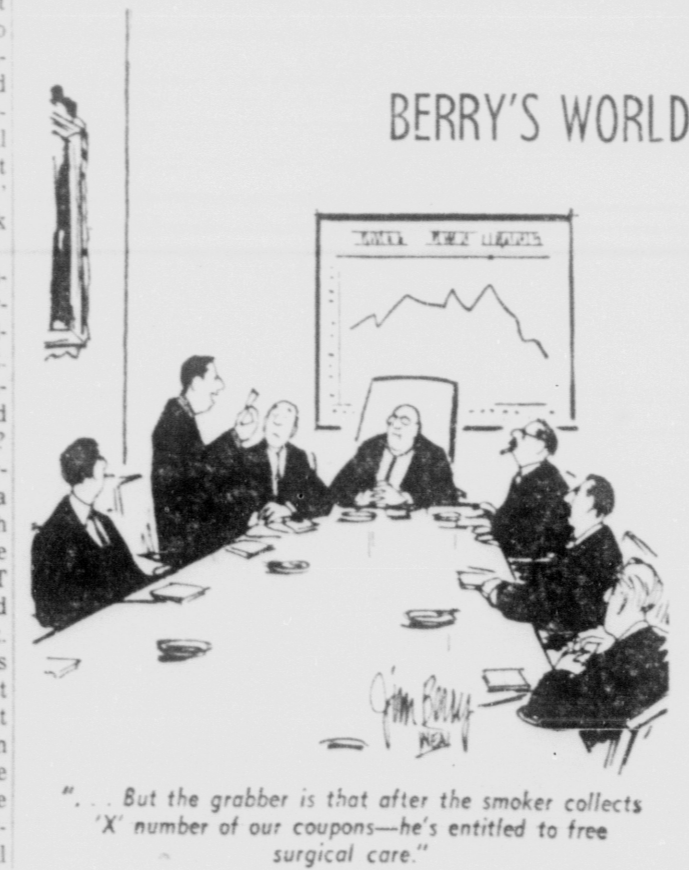

The writer has worked (mined) in places nearly as high as the Peak's summit and found the climate invigorating — after a couple of weeks. You'll sleep longer at that altitude, but you'll wake up feeling better than you ever felt, even in the "low" altitude where we are accustomed to here.

A few people are sometimes advised to move to a lower altitude for certain heart conditions. Otherwise, most medical men pool-pool at the idea of the altitude being "bad" for any of us. Of course, humans do have a timberline, but so far as we know, it is above 20,000 feet. That's the altitude of the Tibetan plateaus where the natives live and thrive.

They used to teach in the colleges back east that cats, ordinary house cats, couldn't survive in Leadville, Colorado, "because the altitude is too high," and all the while hundreds of cats were prowling the streets of that mining camp, altitude 10,300 feet, as they have always done everywhere men have seen fit to take them. The "cat line" never existed.

Cripple Creek and Victor have had many, many citizens who lived well into their 90's and quite a few who beat the 100 mark. The altitude up there is between nine and ten thousand, with most of the mines above ten thousand.

When Mrs. Copelan, mother of George Copelan who came nearer to whipping Jack Dempsey than anybody before Tunney, died in the Cripple Creek Hospital two or three years ago at the age of 102, her friend Mr. Parmley of Divide said, "I kept telling her that altitude would get her if she stayed up there long enough."

... But the grabber is that after the smoker collects 'X' number of our coupons—he's entitled to free surgical care."

Copy of Flag May Not Fly At World's Fair

BALTIMORE (AP) — You'd think after 500,000 stitches, things would be all sewed up. But, after some hemming (and hawing) by New York's World's Fair officials, there's a possibility the Maryland Pavilion might not include a copy of the 42-by-30 foot star-spangled banner which flew over Ft. Mifflin 150 years ago and inspired Francis Scott Key to write the words which became our national anthem.

If not, 75 Baltimore women can rightfully say, "oh darn." They worked seven weeks to make the flag especially for the fair.

The Maryland Pavilion opened last week without the flag. It was too big for the building.

"It should go in the United States Pavilion, and the last I heard about it is that it is going," said Garret O. Billmire, acting executive director of the Maryland Pavilion.

But a spokesman for the U.S. Pavilion said "I don't know where we would put it."

Auto Insurance Rate Increase Scheduled

DENVER (UPI) — State Insurance Commissioner J. R. Dick Barnes said Monday an 84 percent increase in some auto insurance rates was scheduled tentatively to take effect in Colorado May 27.

The National Automobile Underwriters Association requested the rate hike on $50-deductible or $100-deductible insurance bought to cover damage to the policyholder's own car.

National Auto Underwriters represents about 25 percent of the companies doing business in Colorado. Others are expected to follow suit if the increase is approved.

Young Bill Green Elected to Dad's Seat in House

By GEORGE ESPER
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When young Bill Green was 6 years old he was working in politics, delivering circulars for his father's first campaign for Congress.

When young Bill was a senior at St. Joseph's College in 1960, he was voted the most likely to succeed.

Tuesday, he succeeded in winning election to Congress. At 25 years of age, he will be the youngest member of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Green, a Democrat, defeated Republican Edward H. Royner, a union leader, in a special election in Pennsylvania's 5th Congressional District to fill the unexpired term of Green's father, William J. Green Jr., longtime Philadelphia Democratic leader who died last December after 17 years in Congress.

Unofficial complete returns from the district's nine wards showed Green with 30,687 votes and Royner with 21,646.

In many ways, young Bill is a chip off the old block. Most people call him young Bill, but his full name is William Joseph Green. He has dropped the III.

A senior at Villanova University Law School, Green was scheduled to graduate in June, but now he says he can't be sure.

"I intend to try to complete the year if I can," he said, "and if not, finish the few credits I need some time in the future."

"I intend to go to Congress, generally speaking, sponsoring the Kennedy-Johnson program as my father did. I would say generally first of all you have to earn a title or label. When I do, I think you would say I was a liberal."

Green also won the Democratic party's nomination to run for a full-term in next November's general election, when he will again face Royner.

With President Johnson on the ticket, his chances will be easier, said Green.

He said he'll remain in politics, as long as the people will have me.

"Politics is something I have always been taught," he said. "It's the noblest calling I've been working in politics since I was 6 years old. I delivered circulars when dad first ran. I worked on campaigns increasingly as I grew older. I developed a real interest in politics and running for elective office when I was 18 years old."

That was the year he was elected president of his college freshman class.

Being the youngest member of Congress won't bother Green, he says, because he knows most of the congressmen, particularly the Democrats, from spending four weeks a summer with his father who showed him the ropes.

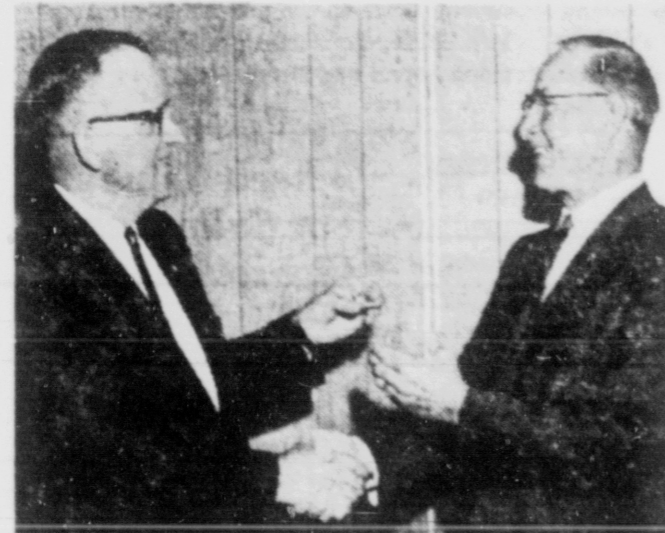

Green, unmarried, is the oldest of six children. He stands six feet, weighs 175 pounds, has dark brown hair and hazel eyes. He is engaging and confident in his conversation.

He says he really doesn't have a hobby—except politics.

Gals May Hold Chairman's Job In New Jersey

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Women may now hold the title of county chairman in New Jersey.

Until Tuesday, New Jersey law provided for the office of vice chairlady of party county committees.

Mrs. Francis H. Fake of Mendham complained more than a year ago that the law implied a woman could not be a county chairman, and this was discriminatory. She also said it got her such embarrassing introductions as "chairlady of vice."

A bill eliminating the offending title was signed into law by Gov. Richard J. Hughes. It also allows women to hold the office of county chairman.

Negro Admits Black Muslim Report False

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—An unemployed Negro handyman has pleaded guilty to making false statements about an alleged Black Muslim plot to assassinate President Johnson.

The FBI said no such plot existed.

Philip A. Booker Jr., 28, of Rochester, had pleaded innocent before U.S. Dist. Judge Harold P. Burke but was allowed to change his plea. Burke set May 11 for sentencing.

Booker was arrested Jan. 15 after telephoning the FBI in Buffalo before to report he had attended a Muslim meeting at which plans were made to kill Johnson.

LBJ Economic Adviser Having Financial Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the work," said Dr. B. T. Shaw in testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee, "and I couldn't predict how soon the answer may come." A transcript of his Feb. 25 testimony was made public Monday.

Shaw, administrator of the department's Agriculture Research Service, noted that it is not known exactly what elements in tobacco or in the burning of it are the agents of disease.

He said researchers can produce tobacco with no nicotine in it or any percentage of nicotine desired. The same, he added, probably could be done with tars.

SUPERJET The Defense Department has officially designated the 2,000-mile an hour A11 jet as an interceptor and gave it a new tag that looks more like a typographical error—the YF12A.

In February when President Johnson disclosed the jet—many of whose characteristics are still secret—he described it as an advanced experimental jet aircraft.

The Pentagon said in its announcement that the "Y" refers to prototype aircraft and "F" represents the plane's basic mission symbol "to intercept and destroy other aircraft." The rest, an Air Force spokesman said, is for bookkeeping.

Calling the dogs over, Johnson fed them some sugar-coated vitamin pills, played with them, then hoisted each in turn by the ears.

After the yowls subsided, Johnson remarked with a smile, "You see what a dog will do when he gets in a crowd of bankers?"

Why did he do it, a reporter asked.

"To make him bark," said Johnson. "It's good for him. And, if you've ever followed dogs, you like to hear them yelp."

Semi-Retired Carpenter Found Dead in Home

LOVELAND (UPI)—William H. Jaspers, 60, a semi-retired carpenter and odd-jobs man, was found dead Monday night in his burning home here. Officials said an autopsy would be held today to determine if Jaspers died as a result of the fire or of a heart attack. If he died from the flames, it would be the first fire death here in 15 years. Firemen fought the blaze for about 45 minutes and damped the fire to the inside of the home was heavy. Cause of the fire is unknown.

Wheels Grinding For Collecting Cigarette Tax

SMALL CHURCHES DIE HARD
GREEN LAKE, Wis. (AP)—We have seen the passing of the rural school, the country store and the country doctor, but "small churches die hard," according to Dr. William G. Mather, research professor of sociology at the Pennsylvania State University.

In a report to a recent American Baptist Convention here, Dr. Mather cited studies that indicate churches with membership under 200 show a low percentage of growth than larger churches. Also, most of their resources are spent for self-survival, such as maintenance of the building and paying the minister, rather than for community service and missions.

DENVER (UPI)—The State Revenue Department has completed preliminary work in setting up machinery to collect the state's new 3-cent-per-pack cigarette tax. Director Hugh Weed Jr. said Monday.

Weed said licenses, license applications and bond forms have been completed. The actual tax reporting form, which won't be needed until August, will be ready for mailing in July. The new tax becomes effective July 1. The revenue measure is expected to bring in $6 million annually to the state.

The tax will be collected at the wholesale level and the small rural church is too small to make a contribution to meet the problems of the future.

Youthful Driver Who Hit Train Put on Probation

Thomas Evancich III, the 17-year old boy who was the driver of the car that struck a Rock Island train March 23, was placed on a year's probation Tuesday in Municipal Court.

Judge Allan Asher gave Evancich, 3444 W. Pike Peak Ave., a 30-day jail sentence which he suspended on condition he not drive in the city for a period of one year. Evancich agreed to the suspension and handed his drivers' license over to Court Clerk Don Nelson.

The youth pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge and was fined $100.

Attorney Robert Ward, who had been retained by the youth's father, offered no evidence and requested "leniency, mercy, and understanding" from the judge prior to sentencing.

Ward said he had talked to the four other youths who were passengers in Evancich's car when the accident occurred at the Union Boulevard crossing, and said he was told they did not see the train until the impact. He said there was "some indication" the flashing light came on just as Evancich's car crossed the intersection.

"Evancich admitted to drinking from four to five quarts of beer," Judge Asher said, reading from the accident report, "and they certainly weren't aware of anything."

"You're a menace to society," the judge said to the youth, adding there was "absolutely no excuse" for what took place March 23.

In a second driving accident, involving the use of alcohol, Wayne Jack Simmons, 37, of Cascade, said he would plead guilty to a careless driving charge, but didn't think he was guilty of reckless driving.

Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac said the city would move to dismiss the reckless charge for a guilty plea to the careless Simmons agreed to this proposal.

Testimony was that he was following a friend home, and he crashed into the other man's car when he came to a sudden stop. Simmons said he took the alcohol test at Police Headquarters and it registered 13.

When Judge Asher fined him $50 and suspended his right to drive in the city for 30 days, Simmons said "I live in Cascade and am a newspaper reporter."

Syrian Council Won't Recognize Military Treaty

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's ruling Revolutionary Council abrogated the military union treaty with neighboring Iraq today, saying Iraq had failed to appoint a new commander in chief for the unified armed forces.

The military treaty took effect last October and collapsed a month later when Iraqi President Abdel Salam Aref overthrew the Baath Socialist government in Baghdad and exiled the Baathist commander in chief of the unified armies.

The Syrian action today made the break official and underlined the mounting tension between Syria and Iraq. The Syrian Baathist regime has charged that the Iraqi government "provoked and financed" a recent antigovernment uprising in the city of Hama, Syria.

Private Plane Crashes; Four Aboard Killed

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — A private plane plunged into a frame house and exploded in flames Monday, killing four men aboard.

The plane was operated by the Hood Corp., a Boise, Idaho, construction firm. Dead are C. R. Shearman, 50, Hood vice president; Don McCabe, 35, the pilot; Steve Miller, 20, employed by Shearman; and Edward Utley, 20, a friend of Miller.

Boyle Suggests A 'Be Kind to Fat People' Day

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Isn't it about time we had a Be Kind to Fat People Day in this country?

Early next month Americans will celebrate the golden anniversary of national Be Kind to Animals Week.

Animals have done much to lighten and brighten and entertain the human journey. But so have fat people.

Yet one group is appreciated and the other group is not.

Laws protect animals. No legislation exists to protect fat people. You can tease, abuse and torment fat people mercilessly, and a policeman will simply look the other way—or join in the laughter.

This is because animals have better public relations. They have a powerful lobby working for them in Washington. The fat man has no such lobby.

Amateur psychologists tell the fat man his avoirdupois is a sign of emotional insecurity. Pretty girls pat his tummy, but prefer to marry some reed-shaped male oaf because he is more agile on a dance floor or fits better into a tiny sports car.

Corporations hesitate to give the fat man executive promotion because he is held to be a poor health risk. Under this theory Benjamin Franklin, a man who never counted his calories but lived well into his 80s, would have spent his life as an underpaid code clerk in the U.S. State Department.

Throughout history the fat man has served as a symbol of jollity, plenty and dignity, a symbol of mankind's victory over one of its arch enemies—hunger.

Would any of us, child or adult, love Santa Clause any better if he went on a diet and wound up with a figure like that of Cary Grant?

The fat man is usually good-natured and rarely picks a quarrel because he needs his energy for more useful purposes. On the other hand he won't run away from a fight. He can't. At best he only waddles away.

In the consumer economy upon which American civilization must thrive or die, the fat man is our foremost patriot. It takes more cloth to make him a suit, more leather to make his shoes, more polish to keep those shoes shined.

What is true of the fat man is equally true of the fat lady. She is a great natural resource, too.

What is the best way you can show how much you appreciate a fat person?

Why not take one to lunch, a seven-course lunch? When you pick up the check, you may not feel better, but he will. And that's the general idea.
